SESSION I: THE IMPACT OF BREXIT ON THE UK ENERGY MARKET

09.15 - 10.45 Roundtable Discussion

Chair: Fabien Roques | FTI-CL Energy

Has the impact of Brexit upon the UK energy market in terms of electricity and gas trading, interconnectors, and their nuclear and RES policies become clearer? Are we better prepared for March 2019? Is parallel regulation a possible and even feasible solution?

Discussants:

Pavel Miller | SSE

Paul Hallas | Centrica

Jason Mann | FTI - Compass Lexecon

Howard Wright | EPEX SPOT

Munir Hassan | CMS

10.45 - 11.30 KEYNOTE ADDRESS: How will Brexit affect the UK energy market?

Dieter Helm | Oxford University

SESSION III: SPECIFIC SECTORS & SPECIFIC MARKETS: THE IMPACT OF BREXIT ON THE NUCLEAR AND THE ISEM

14.30 - 16.45 Roundtable Discussion

A number of the challenges of Brexit for energy markets have become prominent at an early stage in the negotiations. In particular, the UK government has stated its commitment to the SEM as well as to guaranteeing that the exit from the Euratom Treaty arrangements will not lead to any disruptions. Are these reassurances convincing? Are there any lessons to be learned for the future transition?

Chair: Leigh Hancher | FSR, RSCAS, European University Institute; University of Tilburg

14.30 - 15.45 How to keep the SEM and future I-SEM intact?

Discussants:

Gordon Downie | Shepherd and Wedderburn

Niall Hogan | ESB

Sue Harrison | BEIS
