

NICOLA CATALANO AND HIS LEGACY: THE PRELIMINARY RULING (R)EVOLUTION

Organizer: Alcide De Gasperi Research Centre for the History of European Integration

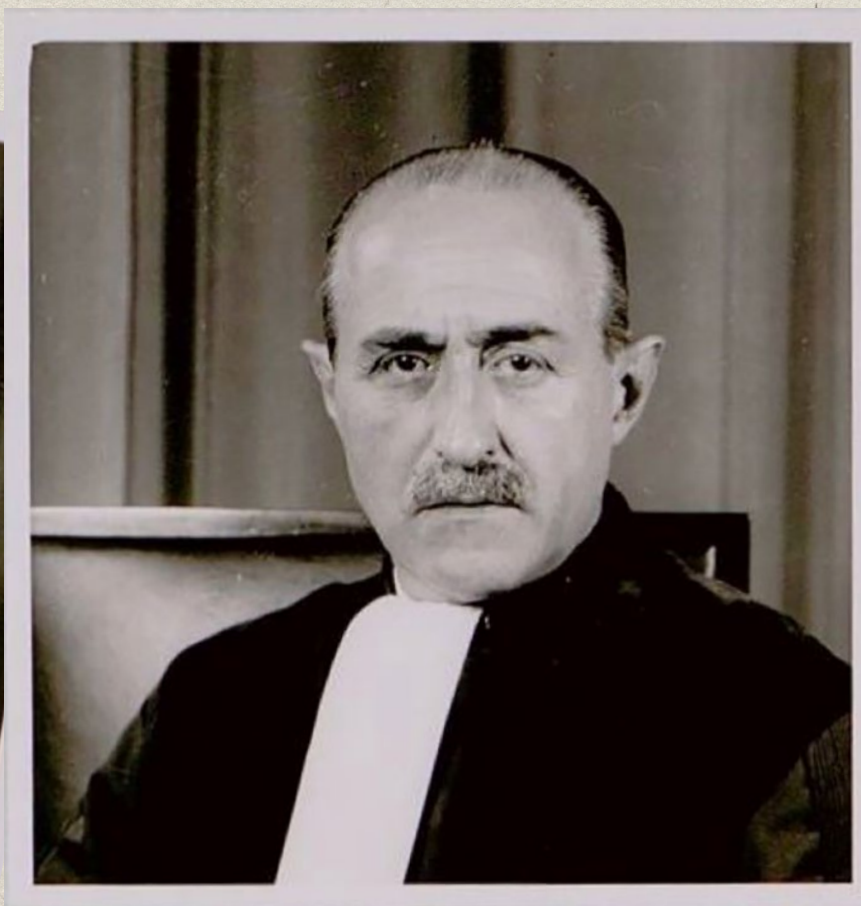

Date/Place: Thursday, 23 June 2022 (17:00-18:00 CEST)
Please register through the EUI events calendar to receive the ZOOM link.

Chair: Lisa Benvegna (Alcide De Gasperi Research Centre)

Speaker: Amedeo Arena (University of Naples Federico II)

Discussants: Morten Rasmussen (University of Copenhagen)
William Phelan (Trinity College Dublin)

In this online seminar, Amedeo Arena presents the work of Nicola Catalano, influential Italian Eurolawyer, judge and scholar. A key figure and member of the drafting committee for the Treaties of Rome, Catalano is especially recognised for his role in the drafting of the EEC Treaty's preliminary ruling procedure. The seminar will focus on this latter work, the debates it inspired, and its subsequent interpretation by the European Court of Justice. Morten Rasmussen and William Phelan will discuss.

Herr Nicola Catalano

Images of Nicola Catalano: detail from Historical Archives of the European Union, CJUE 2557, photo © Edouard Kutter et Fils, photographes de la Cour

